Latest Employment Opportunities

Vacancy with Southampton City Council's Employment Support Team: Employment Officer – Health Conditions

Are you committed to helping people with health conditions develop the skills, confidence and experience they need to succeed in the world of work? Southampton City Council's Employment Support Team are partners in the Solent Jobs Programme, an exciting initiative aimed at strengthening the skills and employment offer to long term unemployed people.

This post will be co-located with partner agencies in a health care setting in Southampton and you will work alongside clinical practitioners to identify and support people with long term health conditions back into work. This is a research project, and so you will be a confident experienced advisor, used to extensive recording of interventions and able to fully contribute to shaping the project from the outset and ensuring its success.

Achieving outcomes for participants will be key and you will have an understanding of training and employment support provision, preferably have a relevant qualification to at least level 3, and have excellent communication skills. You will manage a case load of people with diverse needs and working with partner agencies to help meet these needs will be important. You will need to be flexible, organised and adaptable to ensure each client receives the highest calibre of support on their journey into employment.

The post is 37 hours a week. Support, supervision and training are available.
