Latest Employment Opportunities

Vacancy with Southampton City Council's Employment Support Team: Employment Officer – Health Conditions

Are you committed to helping people with health conditions develop the skills, confidence and experience they need to succeed in the world of work? Southampton City Council's Employment Support Team are partners in the Solent Jobs Programme, an exciting initiative aimed at strengthening the skills and employment offer to long term unemployed people.

This post will be co-located with partner agencies in a health care setting in Southampton and you will work alongside clinical practitioners to identify and support people with long term health conditions back into work. This is a research project, and so you will be a confident experienced advisor, used to extensive recording of interventions and able to fully contribute to shaping the project from the outset and ensuring its success.

Achieving outcomes for participants will be key and you will have an understanding of training and employment support provision, preferably have a relevant qualification to at least level 3, and have excellent communication skills. You will manage a case load of people with diverse needs and working with partner agencies to help meet these needs will be important. You will need to be flexible, organised and adaptable to ensure each client receives the highest calibre of support on their journey into employment.

The post is 37 hours a week. Support, supervision and training are available.

- Thursday 6th July
- Thursday 13th July
- Thursday 19th July
- Thursday 27th July

Times: 10.00am - 3.30pm

The course enables people who are 50+, to overcome barriers associated with long term unemployment and redundancy to improve employability.

The programme will help people to get past their barriers, boost self-esteem & confidence, challenge unhelpful thinking, attitudes and behaviours; to discover skills & strengths, relate well to others, set positive goals, and engage with employment, training and community involvement.

Candidates have often attended other formal provision for confidence and employability but have been unable to benefit from it.

The 50+ clients we work with face multiple barriers to employment around confidence, self-esteem, depression and anxiety, physical conditions and attitudinal barriers caused by feeling institutionalised and out of control.

Later Life Choices will help them face their barriers and bring about increased motivation and transformed thinking, attitude and behaviour so they can get the maximum benefit from Work Coach support to progress into employment, training or community involvement.

It will help them plan for realistic and fulfilling work that matches their strengths, skills and motivations.

It is for those struggling with low confidence, self-esteem and motivation but who want to change their situation and progress in their lives.

The course will enable them to identify their skills and strengths, along with a healthy way of thinking about themselves and their situation so that their motivation increases.

Although Later Life Choices is an intensive 50-hour programme, it is delivered in a relational, informal and interactive way.

Travel expenses are reimbursed.

Lunch and refreshments are provided.

To make a referral, email, call 023 8070 2222 or use the referral form:

www.safe.org.uk

Each candidate must have a 30-minute motivational interview prior to the start of the course and so time needs to be allowed for this.

Closing Date: Monday 26th June 2017
